Course Description

This course will empower students with strategic abilities to assist organizations in adapting to the rapidly evolving digital markets of the future. It will comprehensively cover various digital strategies and tools, given the prevailing trend of organizations transitioning to a digital marketing footprint. Students will gain insights into the latest and upcoming changes in digital marketing strategy and practice, exploring these technologies as integral components of marketing strategies to create value for customers. The class will emphasize the latest trends and cutting-edge practices and leverage numerous external articles and live examples. Upon completion of this course, students will be well-equipped to enter any company, regardless of its online presence, and enhance its utilization of the internet. Graduates will possess the capability to design an entire customer journey. Additionally, they will confidently approach any digital marketing job interview, showcasing the abilities and skills acquired through this course.

Course Learning Outcomes

1. Digital Market Research – Gaining insights from your potential customers using online tools.

2. Search Engine Optimization – Understand how search engines work. Use this knowledge to make recommendations to a website on how it can improve its organic search rankings – in other words, perform search engine optimization on a website.

3. Search Engine Marketing – Understand paid search ranking. Create a search engine marketing campaign and evaluate its effectiveness. Recommend changes that will improve the campaign's conversion rates.

4. Website Marketing – Learning web design and working on the backend of a website to be able to start a web-based business from scratch or improve currently existing websites.

5. Social Media – Utilize knowledge of social media tactics to design an effective social media campaign.

6. Email Marketing – Understand and implement best practices in marketing to a database of current and potential customers via email.

7. Web Analytics – Determine the appropriate KPIs for any type of website. Make appropriate recommendations to an eCommerce website based on the conversion funnel.

8. Evaluate the digital marketing footprint of an organization/or individual

Course Requirements & Assessment
(All files and instructions can be found in Canvas)

Quizzes

You are going to have 4 quizzes throughout the semester. Each of these quizzes have 20 multiple choice questions from the concepts and tools we talk about in class.

Group Assignments

There are 8 group assignments each worth 20 pts each, and two "group assignment plus" as extra credits. You can find details in the weekly class schedule.

Final and Midterm Exams

Each exam has 30 multiple-choice, or true-false questions from the quizzes and concepts & techniques covered in class.

Group Semester Projects

1. Google Analytics 4 project:

The Google Merchandise Store (https://shop.googlemerchandisestore.com) is Google's official ecommerce website that sells products branded with the logos of Google and its companies.

You will use the Google Store's website analytics to answer questions related to this online merchandise store. The answers will be extracted from Google Analytics which has been built based on real customer data.

2. Digital marketing strategy final team presentation:

Each team presents its overall digital strategy for its proposed value. This presentation has to be built on the class content and what students have learned from digital marketing strategies, and customer journey design.

This presentation includes:

Section 1: Organizational mission and objectives (Who are you?)

- Describe your value proposition
- Your brand archetype
- Your brand color visualizations/and personality (Why?)

Section 2: Market Segmentation and Targeting

- Describe your customers (Who are your customers?)
- Which segment of your market are you focusing on? (Why?)
- Based on your market research, describe what is their pain point that you want to focus on.

Section 3: Digital marketing objectives

- Do you want to generate more leads? more views? increase awareness? (Goals should be SMART) (Why?)

Section 4: Digital marketing tactics (You can use the Periodic Table in Week 10 slides)

- What tactics help you reach your objectives? (SEO, Social Media Marketing, Email Marketing, etc.) (Why?)
- What format and type of content do you want to create? (Why?)
- What platform for distribution? (Why?)

Section 5: Digital marketing analytics, evaluation, and measurement

- What are the proper metrics to measure and evaluate your marketing activities at every step of the customer journey? (Why?)

Section 6: Customer Journey Map

- Design your customer journey map using the template given in this week's module (and down below here)

Section 7: References and appendix

Online Certifications (1% extra credit)

There are several tools/skills that you might need when working in digital marketing, depending on your specialty. Considering, I want you to train and get certified in 1 of these areas. Each of the certifications below should be free, take 4-6 hours, and can be added to your resume. You can choose which one you pursue and turn in for credit. Feel free to pursue more certifications, but you must turn one in for credit after you have been successfully certified. You will take a screen shot of your certificate: your name must appear in the screenshot somewhere as well as the certification number and dates the certificate is valid. You must get certified for this class and cannot use past certifications for credit.

Class attendance and Participation

1. Every session of the course will involve interaction in the form of class discussion. Class participation demonstrates preparedness and enhances the learning experience for everyone in the course. Also, articulating your views in a group discussion is an essential management skill, and we can all benefit from practice. My job is to provide a supportive environment in which you can develop this skill. Your job is to come to class prepared to contribute to the day's discussion.

2. There will be multiple in-class activities and discussions. Active participation in these activities and discussions will ensure that you get a good participation grade. In general, I weigh quality of discussion more than quantity. Each unexcused absence will also take away 10 points from your final grade.

3. You can find UNH's attendance and absence policy at this link: https://catalog.newhaven.edu/content.php?catoid=21&navoid=1239#attendance

Expectations

Canvas communications: The course will utilize Canvas for communication. Please visit the Canvas modules regularly (I suggest every Sunday—spend an hour, or more-- going over each of your classes and making sure you are aware of assignments, due dates, etc.). Also review the Canvas shell a couple days in advance of each class for course information, assignments, supplementary readings, grades, and announcements. Please remember that it is your responsibility to make sure you receive and read all the information posted (published) on Canvas.

Peer communications & Evaluations: In the context of class case studies, I expect students to engage in thoughtful and collaborative communication with their peers. It is crucial that they approach discussions with an open mind, valuing the diversity of opinions and perspectives that each individual brings to the table. Respectful dialogue should be the cornerstone of their interactions, where students actively listen to one another, constructively challenge ideas, and build upon different viewpoints to foster a deeper understanding of the subject matter. There are also two individual peer evaluations in which you evaluate your teammates. If any individual receives a zero from all other team members, they will be separated from their team, and they should submit assignments individually.

From the University: This course will require significant in-class and out-of-class commitment from each student. The University estimates that a student should expect to spend two hours outside of class for each hour they are in a class. (For example, a three-credit course would average six [6] hours of additional work outside of class). Since this class is 3-credits in only 7 weeks, the expectations are even greater.

Assignment and exams: If you miss an exam or assignment due to illness or injury, a makeup will not be scheduled for you unless you have an approved university excuse. You are responsible for contacting your professor concerning the missed exam or assignment as soon as possible, preferably before the next class session.

Assignments are due until the midnight of the due dates. Late assignments will not be accepted unless discussed before the deadline.

Diversity Statement

The University of New Haven embraces diversity and recognizes our responsibility to foster a diverse, inclusive, and welcoming environment in which all members of the Charger community of all backgrounds and identities can learn, work, and live together. We benefit from the academic, social, and cultural developments that arise from a diverse campus that is committed to equity, inclusion, belonging, and accountability.
We have a responsibility as a community and as individuals to address and remove barriers, achieve success, and sustain a culture of inclusivity, empathy, kindness, and compassion. We encourage, welcome, and embrace participation in ongoing dialogue, engagement, and education to critically examine and thoughtfully respond to the changing realities of our community. Diversity, equity, inclusion, acceptance, and belonging enrich the Charger community and are instrumental to institutional success and fulfillment of the University mission.

Reporting Bias Incidents

At the University of New Haven, there is an expectation that all community members are committed to creating and supporting a climate which promotes civility, mutual respect, and open-mindedness. There also exists an understanding that with the freedom of expression comes the responsibility to support community members' right to live and work in an environment free from harassment and fear. It is expected that all members of the University community will engage in anti-bias behavior and refrain from actions that intimidate, humiliate, or demean persons or groups or that undermine their security or self-esteem.

If you have an immediate safety concern for yourself or others, and/or believe someone poses an immediate threat to themselves or others, please contact University Police at 203-932-7070 or call 911. Community members can report bias-motivated incidents by completing the form at www.newhaven.edu/biasreporting. Community members are encouraged to complete this form if they are the target of bias or harassing behaviors, witness such behaviors, or gain knowledge of these behaviors occurring within the University community. All matters concerning bias and harassment will be handled by the Dean of Students Office and Human Resources Office.
